IF YOU ARE APPROACHING FROM OSWESTRY

At the main roundabout on the outskirts of Oswestry which houses an Esso petrol station and Little Chef take the A483 Welshpool road.

Travel approximately 5 miles and arrive at Llynclys crossroads. On your right is the White Lion pub, also signs for the villages of Llansantffraid, Llanfyllin and a tourist brown sign for Lake Vyrnwy. Turn right at these crossroads, you are now on the A495.

Travel approximately 3 miles and take a sweeping left. An identical road sign to that at the crossroads stands at this junction. You are still on the A495. Travel approximately 2 miles. You will cross a railway bridge followed by a river bridge, travel up a long straight. As you follow a sweeping right hand bend Bryn Tanat is immediately on the left. Pass the large double gates on the left, take the next left and follow the signs to the car park.

IF YOU ARE APPROACHING FROM SHREWSBURY

There is a new piece of bypass that takes the traffic round Nesscliffe. You get on the bypass at a roundabout and off at the next! Here take the first left signposted Knockin.

Continue straight on through Knockin until you reach the crossroads at Llynclys. Across and to your right is the White Lion Pub. Go straight over these crossroads towards Llansantffraid, Llanfyllin and a tourist brown sign for Lake Vyrnwy.
